

GET TO KNOW

THE ALABAMA FARMERS FEDERATION

PHILANTHROPY, COMMUNICATION & MEMBER BENEFITS

PHILANTHROPY

Farmers give time, talents and resources to serve others.

Through the decades, this has looked like:

- Local donations to FFA and 4-H
- State scholarship programs through the Alabama Farmers Agriculture Foundation
- Gifts to the Rural Medical Scholars Program, local programs, research, land-grant universities and more

Ag Tag sales help fund much of the organization's giving.

Learn more: AlabamaFarmersFoundation.org

COMMUNICATION

Fellowship is foundational to the Federation's mission. The Federation creates community and connections among members through:

- Member communications
- Conferences, tours and workshops
- Education & outreach

The organization's greatest value is creating opportunities where members can encourage and learn from others who share their values, experiences and opportunities.

MEMBER BENEFITS

Federation members can access an array of special benefits for:

- Travel
- Family fun
- Health
- Home & outdoors
- Auto
- Pets
- Retail

But the greatest perk is access to first-rate customer service through Alfa Insurance, whose employees live in, love and serve the communities where they work.

Learn more: AlfaInsurance.com

Alabama Farmers Federation

P.O. Box 11000 • Montgomery, AL 36191-0001

2108 E. South Blvd., Montgomery, AL 36116

alfafarmers.org

A member of the American Farm Bureau Federation

GRASSROOTS NETWORK

The Alabama Farmers Federation is fueled by a grassroots network of farmer-leaders in every Alabama county – and has been since 1921.

These salt-of-the-earth farmers don't just steward the land. They go beyond their fencerows caring for neighbors. The state organization helps them through:

- Advocacy & policy development
- Leadership development
- Farm & business support
- Philanthropy, communication & member benefits

ADVOCACY & POLICY DEVELOPMENT

The Federation relies on grassroots relationships with decision-makers to meet members' needs in the State House and on Capitol Hill.

Highlights include:

- Fighting regulatory overreach
- Limiting property tax increases
- Funding agricultural research and education
- Addressing issues affecting farm profitability and sustainability

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT YOUNG FARMERS

The Young Farmers program is a training ground for the next generation of leaders. Membership is open to farmers and agriculture professionals ages 18-35.

The state program and county Young Farmers committees encourage members to:

- Compete in advocacy and excellence contests
- Support each other through county meetings and workshops
- Serve communities through workdays at nonprofits, food drives, touch-a-tractor events and more

The two-year Agricultural Leaders For Alabama (A.L.F.A. Leaders) program also provides personal and professional development for farmers ages 25-45.

Learn more: AlfaYoungFarmers.org

WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP

These grassroots county leaders ensure Alabama agriculture has a seat at the table when decisions are made about its future.

Women's Leadership Committees across the state:

- Organize meetings with local elected officials
- Host events to educate a growing urban population about agriculture
- Help with statewide projects like Alabama Ag in the Classroom

YOUTH

The Federation helps leaders of tomorrow through youth development, including:

- The annual Youth Leadership Conference for high school students
- Time and financial investments in FFA and 4-H
- State livestock shows to reward students for hard work and responsibility
- Scholarships for students pursuing majors in agriculture or forestry at land-grant universities

FARM & BUSINESS SUPPORT

The Federation supports farmers and agribusinesses across 17 commodity divisions and affiliated organizations by:

- Monitoring state and national policy
- Advocating for effective, conservative farm programs
- Organizing educational events
- Lending insight on agricultural issues

This boots-on-the-ground work impacts agriculture in Alabama fields and beyond.

