

Alabama Farmers Federation Women's Program

PURPOSE

The purpose of the Farmers Federation women's programs in Alabama at both the state and county level is to provide an opportunity for women to actively participate in the policymaking and policy execution activities of the Alabama Farmers Federation. Recognizing those activities particularly suited to the talents of women, Farmers Federation women are encouraged to have a major part in the overall Farmers Federation program.

ROLE

The women's program is organizationally structured as an "arm of the Board" and acts as a liaison between the board and the membership in helping implement policies and programs of the organization.

All projects and programs of the women shall have administrative requirements equal to all other Farmers Federation programs including the approval of the Farmers Federation Board, whether at the county or state level.

FUNCTIONS OF THE WOMEN'S PROGRAMS

The Farmers Federation is a family organization where men and women work together to develop and implement the policies as set forth by the member; therefore, the functions of the women's program are:

- To stimulate the interest and enthusiasm of Farmers Federation women in the organization of its programs thereby materially assisting with developing and carrying out of policies.
- To plan projects and activities that will provide opportunities for women to participate and become involved in the entire Farmers Federation program.
- To provide information and education whereby Farmers Federation women can attain the knowledge to help solve the problems of farmers through their organization.
- To surface and develop the leadership potential for the Farmers Federation, especially trying to involve the younger members.
- To provide one of the channels of communication to the respective board of directors from the membership, thereby giving the "women's point of view."

American Farm Bureau Women's Leadership Committee

Guidelines of the American Farm Bureau Women's Leadership Committee State Eligibility for Nomination:

Alabama Farmers Federation Women may be nominated to AFB Women's Leadership Committee when:

- The State Farm Bureau they represent has a Women's Leadership Committee
- The State Farm Bureau has assigned staff to service the program.
- The nominee is a voting member in good standing of her state and/or county Farm Bureau (AFBF clarified and said this means that anyone who runs should be a Alabama Farmers Federation member, does not require being a County Board Member)
- The nominee is a member of her state women's leadership committee in a regular or created ex-Officio capacity and must remain so during her term(s) on the AFB Women's Leadership Committee.
- The nominee has attended at least one American Farm Bureau Annual Meeting and served a voting delegate to the Southern Region Women's Caucus.

STEP 2 - Officers (chairman, vice chairman, secretary) can either be appointed by the county president or elected from a meeting of interested women.

STEP 3 - A meeting of all interested women should be called. The coordinator of the women's activities should be present to explain thoroughly the total women's programs in Alabama. State Leadership Committee women may also be helpful.

STEP 4 - In addition to the three executive officers, women commodity interest coordinators may be appointed to complement county commodity committees.

STEP 5 - The yearly program of work should be formulated from the program of work determined by the State Women's Leadership Committee and from local needs.

STEP 6 - Chairmen should be named for each project.

STEP 7 - Telephone chairmen should be named for each area of the county to form a telephone grid or tree. Names should be assigned to each.

TIPS FOR COUNTY CHAIRMAN

1. Make everyone feel welcome. If yours is a large group, appoint a hostess committee.
2. Don't change regular meeting dates unless absolutely necessary.
3. Have agenda made out before the day of the meeting.
4. Call the meeting to order on time. If a member misses out on something, she won't be late next time.
5. Stand when presiding, except when you grant the floor to another.
6. Maintain order using a gavel if necessary. Keeping this group on the subject is sometimes difficult but essential. Sidetracking may be interesting, but it may defeat the purpose of the meeting.
7. The art of leadership is the art of developing people. To get people to work for you, give them the feeling they are working with you. Delegate responsibilities to other people –don't try to do it all yourself. Whenever you appoint a person or a committee, tell them specifically what you want them to do and when it should be done.
8. Keep your county officers informed on all Farmers Federation information you receive.
9. Involve as many Farmers Federation women as possible in activities.
10. Appoint chairmen and let them coordinate the assigned program or project.
11. When possible, combine your committee's efforts with other organizations in conducting community-wide projects.
12. Keep accurate records of each project and activity; i.e. number involved, types and frequency of activities, letters of commendations, etc.

13. Maintain a complete file of clippings, radio/TV script, fact sheets, photos, etc., for use in reporting.
14. Recognize all people working on a project.

SUGGESTED COUNTY WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP COMMITTEE MEETING AGENDA

1. Call to Order
2. Invocation or Devotional
3. Roll Call
4. Reading of Minutes of Previous Meeting
5. Chairman's Remarks
6. Subcommittee Reports
7. Unfinished Business
8. New Business
9. Elections or Appointments
10. Program (optional)
11. Adjournment
12. Recreation or Refreshments

- Be sincere and to the point. Show your name and address.
- Give one or two reasons for your request.
- Be courteous. Don't scold or threaten when making request. Identify legislation by number or bill. (ex. House bill 11 or Senate bill 68)
- Write to your own legislators. It benefits little to write legislators from other districts unless you have tip-off information that could start an investigation or similar action.
- Know what you are talking about.
- Be timed properly. Not over one or two letters on same bill. Same person should not write too often.
- Express appreciation for good job well done and identify reference so that he knows that you know it was a favorable vote, a good speech, or effective committee activity.
- Remember that legislators are human beings who want to be liked and appreciated as human beings, not for what they can do for you.
